

Fall 2024 F-1 Updated In-Person Enrollment Modality

What You Should Know:

- Starting this Fall, FLEX courses will no longer count as an in-person course for F/J international students. In-person sections have been scheduled at the same time to provide an in-person option for you to enroll in. If you were enrolled in a FLEX course as your in-person course, please swap your course section to the on-campus or on-campus hybrid option. If you need help doing so, please contact your Academic Advisor.
 - For more information about class modalities, please see here: Guide to Classes | Success Strategies | Student Success | DePaul University, Chicago
- All F-1 students are required to enroll in and attend in-person courses on DePaul's campus each academic term.
- F-1 students may count only one online course towards their full-course of study enrollment requirement for each term.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. What counts as 'in-person'?

A course is considered "in-person" if the class meets on DePaul's campus and there is an in-person attendance requirement. You can find a list of On-Campus Modalities on DePaul's Guide to Classes. Please note that if you are choosing a 'Flex' courses no longer count as an in-person course for F/J international students.
2. Can I remain in the U.S. if I am taking online classes only?

No. You must enroll in and attend in-person courses on DePaul's campus each academic term.
3. I am concerned that my program does not offer enough in-person courses. What should I do?

Academic departments are working to ensure there are adequate in-person courses and seats available for international students. Contact your academic advisor for further information.
5. I only have one class remaining to complete degree requirements, can I take it remotely?

No. If you have only one class remaining, you must take that class as an in-person course.
6. I am not able to return to DePaul's campus in Fall 2024 to continue my studies. Can I keep my F-1 status?

No. Your F-1 status requires in-person presence at the school that holds your SEVIS record. Please contact your ISS Advisor for more information.

If you have any questions, please contact your ISS Advisor. We look forward to seeing you on campus this fall!
