DEAR FACULTY MEMBER,

This Faculty Guide to Student Programs and Services includes information on university resources, supports and co-curricular programs available to our students. The guide is designed to help new and adjunct faculty become knowledgeable regarding co-curricular programs and services in order to encourage and support student progress and success. The guide also allows us to better partner with you to support students during their collegiate years.

The Division of Student Affairs develops and implements many of the programs and services found in the Faculty Guide to Student Programs and Services. We provide support services, such as counseling, advising and disability accommodations, along with other programs that foster student success, build community and contribute to the development of the whole student.

We continue to provide almost all of our programs and services, even in the midst of a global pandemic. While all services might not be offered in person, on-campus this year, you and your students have a number of options for safely engaging with Student Affairs. Please note that in this ever-changing context, our programs, services and availability are subject to change with little to no notice. Visit our website to get regularly updated information.

Members of my division are available to assist in helping you identify appropriate programs and resources for your students. Please take advantage of our expertise and reach out to us if you have questions or need additional information regarding co-curricular learning and student support services.

Sincerely,

Eugene L. Zdziarski, II, PhD

MISSION
The mission statement embodies the principal purposes of DePaul University. As such it is the nexus between past, present and future; the criterion against which plans are formulated and major decisions made; the bond which unites faculty, students, staff, alumni, and trustees as an academic community. As a university, DePaul pursues the preservation, enrichment, and transmission of knowledge and culture across a broad scope of academic disciplines. It treasures its deep roots in the wisdom nourished in Catholic universities from medieval times. The principal distinguishing marks of the university are its Catholic, Vincentian and urban character.

ABOUT STUDENT BEHAVIOR

What resources are available to faculty if a student is demonstrating inappropriate behavior in the classroom?

Every student who attends DePaul University is responsible for their own actions. DePaul publishes the Code of Student Responsibility as well as Academic Student Handbooks which are quick references outlining student responsibilities. You can read the Academic Student Handbooks online at go.depaul.edu/handbooks or navigate to the Student Affairs webpage then STUDENT LIFE > STUDENT CONDUCT.

We all share the responsibility to address student concerns at the earliest and lowest level possible. As soon as you notice or become aware of a behavioral concern (i.e. showing up late, texting during class) speak directly with the student and reiterate expectations for behavior.

Approach the conversation from a caring perspective while describing how their behavior impedes the teaching and learning environment. The Dean of Students Office is available for consultation on student-specific concerns. You may also refer the student to the Dean of Students Office directly through go.depaul.edu/dos “report a concern.” The Dean of Students Office may meet with the student and discuss the best resources for the particular situation. The office will make referrals to other campus departments including University Counseling Services (UCS) and the Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD). Additional resources for faculty are available on the Dean of Students Office website under “resources.”

The point of first contact (non-emergency) in UCS is an initial consultation with a senior staff psychologist. An initial consultation can be scheduled within 1-3 business days and helps a student determine the next best step if psychological counseling is appropriate. Students can walk-in to the Loop or Lincoln Park offices or call UCS at (312) 362-6923 (Loop) or (773) 325-7779 (Lincoln Park) to make an appointment.

Keep in mind that some students may reject your efforts, deny all troubles, and/or feel intruded upon. On the other hand, they might feel appreciative of your interest and concern, and your contact with them might be an important step toward their dealing with their problems.

To learn more about University Counseling Services, navigate to go.depaul.edu/ucs.
What resources are there for students who have difficulty being academically successful due to a personal, medical or mental health situation?

The Dean of Students Office has academic processes, including an administrative withdrawal process and absence notifications, to assist students who are facing significant personal circumstances that affect their ability to be academically successful. The Dean of Students Office will also provide the student with appropriate campus and community resources.

You can also navigate to the Student Affairs webpage, then SUPPORT SERVICES for information on counseling, health and wellness, peer support and other resources.

What should I do if a student has significant absences from my class or demonstrates changes in behavior that are noticeable and of concern to me?

It is generally more helpful to comment on a student’s observable behavior and avoid diagnostic labeling. Attempt to:

• Establish a supportive relationship with the student.

• Check-in with them in a direct and empathic manner and see what the student is willing to share. Students who tell you directly that they are emotionally distressed and have been unable to resolve their concerns on their own may be reaching out for help and ready to accept it. In this case, you should feel comfortable referring the student to University Counseling Services or the Dean of Students Office. Additionally, the Dean of Students Office can confer with faculty on the most appropriate next steps for the student depending on the situation.

The situation is more difficult when students do not confide in you directly, but when you infer from their behavior that they are emotionally distressed. Depending on the particulars of the situation, you may or may not choose to approach the student. The decision depends on such factors as:

- What specific behaviors of the student are of concern
- How troubled the student seems to be
- Your relationship with the student
- How approachable the student is
- Your personality style and your feelings about intervening

How can I respond to students who may confide in me?

The most appropriate response to students who disclose their personal concerns to you is to:

- Listen.
- Empathize with their feelings and be genuinely supportive.
- Keep your own limits in mind; do not get more involved in the student’s life than is comfortable or appropriate for you (in terms of how long the conversations continue, how frequently personal conversations occur, when and where they take place, and how much is expected of you).

For students who seem to need more than you are able or willing to provide, or if professional counseling seems necessary, refer the student to UCS. Tell the student that UCS is there to provide confidential assistance to students managing problems like theirs. For more information and advice on dealing with emotionally troubled students, call UCS and request a phone or in-office consultation.

While it is important to respect the student’s privacy, faculty or staff members are not bound by professional standards of confidentiality, as are licensed clinicians. There are times when it is appropriate and necessary to discuss concerns and observations about a troubled student with others who might be helpful. For example, Title IX requires that when an individual who is a “responsible employee” learns of sex discrimination, including harassment or sexual or relationship violence, the responsible employee must promptly report specific information, including the identity of the reporting student, and to DePaul’s Title IX coordinator or other appropriate designees. This may be done via an email to the Title IX office, titleixcoordinator@depaul.edu, or through the system used by that office for receiving reports.

With the limited exception of confidential reporting resources listed, all university employees must report to the Title IX Coordinator all relevant details about any sexual violence incidents of which they become aware. More information about reporting can be found on the Title IX resource page: https://offices.depaul.edu/student-affairs/title-ix/rights-options-survivors/Pages/other-university-employees.aspx
You may also refer to the Dean of Students Office directly through go.depaul.edu/dos “report a concern.”

If a member of the DePaul community has shared information with you related to sexual or relationship violence, please refer to this Step by Step Faculty and Employee Guide.pdf

What is DePaul’s protocol if I feel that a student may be thinking about harming themselves or others?

If there is any question of imminent risk (an emergency situation), or if you become aware of a student who is more than simply distressed and upset but is out of control, violent and/or is suicidal or homicidal, then immediate intervention is needed.

If the situation is an emergency, call 911 and then Public Safety at (773) 325-7777 for the Lincoln Park Campus or (312) 362-8400 for the Loop Campus. If it is a non-life-threatening situation, attempt to get the student to the Dean of Students Office or UCS as soon as possible. You can make a report of the situation to the Dean of Students Office directly through go.depaul.edu/dos “report a concern.”

What should I do if I feel that a student is self-medicating or perhaps overusing their prescribed medication?

Talk about your concerns with the student and focus on observable behavior (tardiness, slurred speech, cognitive impairment or other behaviors that interfere with new learning ability and may be suggestive of overusing substances or medications). Remind the student of the resources that are available at the counseling center.

Assessments about use and abuse of medications are very difficult to make, so feel free to call UCS at the Lincoln Park Campus at (773) 325-7779 or the Loop Campus at (312) 362-6923 to consult with a clinical staff member. Additionally, please feel free to utilize the substance misuse prevention specialist in the office of Health Promotion & Wellness (HPW) at (773) 325-4550.

ABOUT UNIVERSITY COUNSELING SERVICES (UCS)

What counseling services are available to students and faculty?

Full-time and part-time DePaul students currently registered and enrolled in a degree program are eligible for counseling services. Services include individual, group, and couple’s counseling; psychiatric evaluation and medication management; crisis intervention; and referrals to community providers and agencies.
UCS staff members consult with faculty regarding disruptive student behaviors and can create some strategies for intervention in the classroom. Faculty should feel free to call on UCS staff at any time to discuss a difficult situation regarding a student.

Currently, UCS offers referrals in the community if a student is seeking long-term, open-ended psychotherapy, needs the resources of a multidisciplinary team, such as in the case of eating disorders or substance abuse treatment, or needs to be seen multiple times per week. UCS staff members are knowledgeable about resources in the community, many of which offer sliding scale fees.

What kinds of concerns are addressed by University Counseling Services?

UCS strives to help students successfully make important transitions, such as: starting college; living away from home for the first time; transferring from another school to DePaul; returning to college after a time away from school; adjusting after a major life event or trauma (e.g., international travel or new cultural experience, parental divorce, illness or death; an assault or accident), and preparing to move from college to the work force. UCS also provides consultation, assessment and referral, and conducts a wide variety of workshops for the DePaul community.

Clients include a diverse population of students of varying ages and ethnicities, who present with a wide variety of situations and concerns, including:

- Adjustment to college
- Test anxiety
- General anxiety/panic attacks
- Depression
- Self-esteem
- Motivational problems
- Eating concerns
- Relationship issues
- Body image
- Sexual identity
- Family concerns
- Social confidence
- Couple concerns

What about the student who refuses to go to counseling?

Except in certain life-threatening situations, the choice of whether or not to seek professional help is up to the individual. If a troubled student refuses to seek counseling in the absence of risk behaviors, you need to accept the student’s decision. If you are quite concerned about such a student, consult with a UCS staff member. In an emergency, contact UCS at (773) 325-7779 to immediately speak to a staff member. A staff psychologist can suggest alternative ways of approaching the student to help more effectively intervene on the student’s behalf. You also may consider consulting the Dean of Students Office. Unlike UCS, the Dean of Student’s office can call the student in for a wellness or well-being check, if indicated.
ABOUT THE CENTER FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES (CSD)

How do I access student information from the Center for Students with Disabilities?

Faculty receive an automatic email alert at the beginning of the term from the CSD system indicating CSD students are in their course(s). Faculty should check their Campus Connect account for a listing of self-disclosed CSD students in their courses and student, classroom and test-taking accommodations.

Faculty instructions for CSD access provide faculty with procedures on how to access student information and test requests, as well as information they need to provide to CSD.

You can find those instructions here: https://offices.depaul.edu/student-affairs/resources/faculty-staff/faculty-questions/Pages/services-for-students-with-disabilities.aspx.

Faculty can access the faculty functions for students with disabilities by logging into Campus Connect. Once there, click the compass icon on the top, right of the screen, then select ‘Navigator’. Go to Self Service > Faculty Center > Instructor Resources > Students with Disabilities.

Report any database problems to csd@depaul.edu immediately, enabling us to contact the technology department to fix the problem as soon as possible.

How do I facilitate student accommodations, and what kinds of student accommodations are available?

Students are issued a range of accommodations based on their documented disabilities and CSD staff observations in their direct work with students. Students access their accommodations at their discretion during the term and may select just some of them for a faculty member’s particular class.

In fulfilling accommodation needs, CSD staff work collaboratively with faculty, staff and students. Faculty and staff should readily consult with CSD staff to discuss strategies for facilitating accommodations as well as effective instructional strategies with students.

How can I encourage students to discuss their disabilities with me?

Many students with disabilities enter higher education and do not realize there is support for them; others are aware but yearn to achieve without it. And current CSD students need encouragement to discuss their disabilities with their professors, who are eager to assist.

In efforts to reach these students, CSD seeks the assistance of all faculty. We request that they include a statement in their course syllabi with information about the Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD). You can find the statement at go.depaul.edu/facultycsd.
ABOUT ACADEMICS AND STUDYING

Students can learn more about academic support by navigating to the Student Success page at go.depaul.edu/success or to the Student Affairs web page, then SUPPORT SERVICES. These services exist to help students make adequate academic progress, or, when they can’t do that because of circumstances out of their control, point them to systems and processes that help them overcome life hurdles.

In this section of the guide, you will find information on the absence notification process, academic advising related to selecting courses and changing majors, career coaching, tutoring and more.

Where can I study on campus if I don’t want to study in my room?

While congregating in groups is not permitted in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic, there are still spaces where you can study on campus. While more limited now, each of the DePaul libraries has areas designated for studying, research and homework. Students also study in the Student Center, as well as the lobbies outside many college offices and academic buildings. Additionally, DePaul residence halls have spaces for studying. In the spring and fall, students can be found studying outdoors on the Quad or other open areas on campus.

Questions Students May Ask

Will my parents get my grades?

Due to privacy laws (see DePaul Central’s Records page at go.depaul.edu/depaulcentral), DePaul will only list grades on Campus Connect for students to access. Grades are posted on Campus Connect at the end of each term. It is ultimately up to students to share grades with a parent or guardian. Students can learn how to do that here, or visit go.depaul.edu/depaulcentral.

How do I change my schedule?

Students should speak with their academic advisor before changing their schedule to ensure that the courses they are interested in fit within the major they have chosen.

Students use the Drop/Add or Swap Class functions in Campus Connect to change their schedule. There are various deadlines for dropping courses and many are in the first or second week of classes; students should be aware of these deadlines before attempting to drop a course. These deadlines can be found in the academic calendar.

How do I change my major?

Students can formally change or declare a major or minor in Campus Connect by using the Change College, Major, Minor option. After logging into Campus Connect, students should click on Academic Records > Change College, Major or Minor to declare or change a major or minor. To declare or change a
Students are encouraged to attend one of two involvement fairs offered in the fall and winter quarters to learn more about student clubs and organizations. Information about these fairs is posted around campus, as well as on Campus Connect and DeHub at dehub.depaul.edu.

What kinds of fraternities and sororities are established at DePaul?
There are 29 fraternities and sororities at DePaul University. Students can contact the Office of Student Involvement for more information.

I’ve heard a lot about FEST. How can I get involved?
FEST is a spring outdoor concert and festival that is planned and implemented by the DePaul Activities Board (DAB). DAB is the largest student programming body on campus and works to provide a variety of events for the DePaul community.

Students can apply to be a program assistant on one or more of DAB’s seven committees, or they can apply to be a coordinator of one of the committees.

For information on other exciting events that DePaul hosts throughout the year, such as service days, Blue Demon Week and Alumni and Family Weekend, navigate to the Student Affairs webpage then to EVENTS.

Does DePaul have a homecoming?
No. Instead of a homecoming, DePaul celebrates Blue Demon Week during the winter quarter. The DePaul Activities Board (DAB), the Student Government Association, and various university departments (including Alumni Relations, the Ray Meyer Fitness and Recreation Center, Student Affairs and Athletics) plan Blue Demon Week. The week typically features a number of spirit and affinity building events, and culminates with men’s and women’s senior day basketball games.

ABOUT STUDENT LIFE

The college experience is about more than just classes, exams, homework and studying. The life a student lives outside the classroom can contribute to learning, college success and growth almost as much as some of those more traditional activities.

There are plenty of ways a student can be engaged and enhance their DePaul experience. Students can navigate to the Student Affairs webpage, then to STUDENT LIFE to find information on student organizations, community engagement opportunities, leadership opportunities and programming designed to support students and their families throughout the DePaul experience.

How can I meet people at DePaul?

Many of DePaul’s offices are dedicated to student involvement and deliver many opportunities that help students connect to and network with others. Students can visit DeHub at dehub.depaul.edu to learn about student clubs and organizations, as well as see upcoming events. They can also visit the Student Affairs website to learn about a variety of ways to get involved and meet people.

What do DePaul students do on the weekends?

A wide variety of activities take place over the weekend. Many of these events will be advertised in DeHub, the online student organization portal, the Student Affairs web page, or in the Student Center, residence halls or on various message boards around campus. Chicago also hosts many interesting attractions, ranging from the Lincoln Park Zoo to the Museum of Science and Industry, the Field Museum or the Shedd Aquarium. Students can visit DEN and explore DeHub’s events feed for opportunities to connect with other students and faculty remotely.

What religious activities are available at DePaul?

While DePaul is Catholic by tradition, it is inclusive and accepting of all religions. Catholic Campus Ministry, the Vincentian Service and Formation team and the Religious Diversity and Pastoral Care teams are poised to aid students in their spiritual development whether they are Catholic, Protestant Christian, Jewish, Muslim, Buddhist (or others) or still seeking faith, religion or spirituality in a religiously diverse and pluralistic world.

Spirituality, service and justice are at the heart of learning at DePaul, and a number of departments do much to support students’ efforts to make a difference in their world. Students can find more information on services by navigating to go.depaul.edu/ministry.

How do I use public transportation and what is a U-Pass?

With the Fullerton ‘L’ stop in the center of the Lincoln Park Campus, the Jackson subway stop near the Loop Campus and bus stops throughout the city, there are any number of routes available for students, faculty and staff to use to travel nearly anywhere in Chicago. Route maps and the CTA website (transitchicago.com) can be helpful when navigating public transportation.

The CTA Ventra U-Pass is a transit pass that eligible students can use for unlimited rides anywhere on the CTA system. Eligible students include full-time undergraduate students and some full-time graduate students. Eligible students will be charged a nominal fee which will appear on each quarter’s tuition statement.

All full-time, eligible students at DePaul get a Ventra U-Pass, which provides unlimited rides on any CTA or Pace system bus or train at a discounted price during the academic quarters. Visit upass.depaul.edu to learn more.
By voluntarily joining the university community each student agrees to abide by the standards that have been instituted by DePaul University. Students are responsible for being familiar with all of the policies included in the Code of Student Responsibility.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY
DePaul University is a learning community that promotes the intellectual development of each individual within the community. The university seeks to maintain and enhance the educational environment of the community in a variety of ways, including through the development and promotion of standards for academic honesty. The university believes that all members of the community are responsible for adherence to these standards for academic honesty, and that all violations of academic integrity are detrimental to the intellectual development of individuals within the community and to the community at large.

ALCOHOL
The State of Illinois prohibits the sale, use, distribution, manufacture or possession of all forms of alcoholic beverages by persons under 21 years of age. Students under 21 years of age may not sell, use, distribute, manufacture or possess all forms of alcoholic beverages.

Providing or distributing alcohol to individuals under the age of 21 is prohibited.

Students, even those 21 years of age or older, may not possess or consume alcohol in common or non-reserved areas on university premises.

Alcohol consumption that results in behavior that infringes on the rights of others in the community is prohibited. Alcohol consumption that creates a risk of harm to self, including requiring a transport to the hospital for intoxication, is prohibited. Please review the full policy at go.depaul.edu/alcoholpolicy.

For specific policies regarding alcoholic beverages in the residence halls, please see the Guide to Student Housing.

For specific policies regarding events sponsored by student organizations at which alcohol is served, please see the Student Organization Handbook.

CODE OF STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY
The Dean of Students Office is committed to partnership in the educational mission of DePaul University. This mission is enhanced by a Code of Student Responsibility, which includes policies that outline expectations and standards of behavior for the student community. Any community of more than 22,000 people needs rules. As a DePaul University student, the policies in the DePaul Code of Student Responsibility are not a list of things you can do wrong; it is a code designed to protect your rights and those of all DePaul students. Any student who feels that another student in the community has violated their rights is encouraged to use this Code and the Dean of Students Office as a resource.

FERPA: STUDENT PRIVACY AT DEPAUL
DePaul is committed to maintaining student records privacy, in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA). Students are responsible for setting and maintaining their FERPA directory release preferences in Campus Connect. Students have access to all of their records maintained by the university except those considered to be confidential under the act. Students have access to view and print information from their academic record through Campus Connect. The university does not release this information to anyone other than the student.

Students are encouraged to maintain open communication with their parents and/or family members regarding academic progress and other important issues. For additional information, please visit the Student Records website at go.depaul.edu/depaulcentral, and then navigate to Records > FERPA, or visit the federal government website at ed.gov/policy/gen/guid/fpco/ferpa. Any questions concerning FERPA should be directed to DePaul Central at dpcl@depaul.edu or (312) 362-8610.

HAZING
DePaul prohibits hazing, as defined under applicable laws. Hazing includes but is not limited to, any action taken or situation created to produce mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, ridicule or endangerment of a student or group of students for the purpose of initiation into, affiliation with or admission to, or as a condition for continued membership in a group, team, club or other organization. Falsely leading an individual or individuals to believe that they will be inducted/initiated by participating in particular activities may also be considered hazing. Acceptance of the activity on the part of a new member or individual does not excuse sponsorship of the activity.

ILLEGAL USE OR POSSESSION OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES
Students may not illegally use, sell, possess, manufacture or distribute any substance prohibited by local, state or federal law. This includes but is not limited to illegal drugs and controlled substances (including marijuana, narcotics, cocaine, heroin, prescription medications, synthetic cannabinoids or other drugs, and chemicals substantially similar to a controlled substance). Students should be aware that it is unlawful to distribute prescription medication to other students for whom the medication was not prescribed.

Use, possession, manufacture or distribution of drug paraphernalia is also prohibited. Please see the full illegal use policy at go.depaul.edu/drugpolicy.

SEXUAL AND RELATIONSHIP VIOLENCE
DePaul University strictly prohibits sexual and relationship violence and threats of sexual and relationship violence, which includes sexual assault, sexual misconduct, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking.

DePaul University is concerned about the safety and well-being of its faculty, staff and students, and about incidents of sexual misconduct, harassment or violence, whether on- or off-campus. If you experience any type of sexual or relationship violence, please know that you have rights, you have options and support is available for you. Read DePaul’s entire institutional policy regarding Sexual and Relationship Violence Prevention and Response at go.depaul.edu/srvresponse.

Any individual who is experiencing any type of sexual and/or relationship violence is encouraged to consult this policy. This document is intended as an overview of various policies, procedures, resources, and supports. Survivors are encouraged to speak directly with DePaul’s director of Gender Equity (Title IX coordinator) or Survivor Support Advocates in DePaul’s Office of Health Promotion and Wellness, or other resources, for more information.

Consent, or lack thereof, is critical to the definition of sexual assault. At DePaul:

• Consent is the unambiguous and voluntary agreement to move forward with a specific sexual request, act or experience.
• Consent cannot be obtained from individuals who are asleep or who have a temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity, including as a result of drug or alcohol use, or because of age.

• Consent is an affirmative act, not a lack of action.
• Lack of resistance or submission as the result of force, coercion, duress, or threat thereof does not constitute consent.
• The absence of “no” or “stop” should never be interpreted as implicit consent, if consent is otherwise unclear.
• Resistance is not required to demonstrate lack of consent.

STUDENT HANDBOOK

The handbook provides university policies that support both academic and behavioral expectations.

The university reserves the right to change programs, courses and requirements; and to modify, amend or revoke any rules, regulations, policies, procedures or financial schedules at any time during a student’s enrollment period.

In addition to the policies and information included in this handbook, the student’s college or school may have specific guidelines, policies and procedures for which the student is responsible. Students should consult their college section.

The handbook also includes sections on general information and university resources.

You can find the handbook at go.depaul.edu/handbooks.

Our offerings reach all students, but many programs target specific populations such as adult students, veterans, students with disabilities, and first-generation college students. The division’s mission is to deliver programs and services that foster student success, build community and contribute to the development of the whole student.

The Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD) is DePaul University’s designate to coordinate accommodations and other services to students in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. As such, CSD regularly works with students with documented diagnoses of a range of disabilities such as learning disabilities, AD/HD, medical conditions, chronic illness, mental health disorders, and physical/visual disabilities, among others.

Appropriate documentation is required for a student to receive accommodations. All information is confidential; for students who choose to disclose their disability, course professors will be notified of those names and accommodations at the beginning of each term. If a student self-discloses a disability to a faculty member directly or otherwise asks about accommodations, the student should be directed to CSD. CSD staff members are also available as a resource for faculty and staff who may have questions about accommodating, or otherwise working with, students with disabilities. For more information, please contact the Center for Students with Disabilities.
The Dean of Students Office (DOS) is primarily responsible for meeting the urgent needs of students by providing clear and critical support structures in times of need. Additionally, the department helps develop and maintain community standards in order to facilitate a safe and healthy campus environment for our students. The Dean of Students Office provides the administrative withdrawal and absence notification processes and can help students identify campus and community resources in times of personal and/or family crises and medical emergencies.

When staff in the Dean of Students Office interact with students, they encourage the student to engage in self-reflection and think critically about their situation in order to foster personal growth. Each student and case is unique, and DOS staff members work to meet each of them where they are in order to support and encourage their academic progress and success.
Health Promotion and Wellness (HPW) provides holistic education, support and resources for individuals to create and sustain long-term, healthy behaviors. We empower the DePaul community to embrace a healthy lifestyle and create a culture of health and well-being that fosters personal and academic success. DePaul Student Health Service

Health Services are offered through AMITA Sage Medical Group at 1150 W. Fullerton Ave. in Lincoln Park.

Commuter students can access DePaul Student Health Service by paying the student health service fee to DePaul Central (LPC – Schmitt Academic Center, 101; Loop – DePaul Center 9100). For more information regarding Student Health Service, contact the Office of Health Promotion and Wellness at (773) 325-7129.

Testing is free, provided by community organizations and available to all DePaul students. Additional information on other health resources is available at go.depaul.edu/healthresources.

Sexual and Relationship Violence Prevention and Support

Sexual and relationship violence prevention services provides support in two distinct yet closely linked areas: preventing and addressing sexual violence and promoting healthy relationships. SRV engages in advocacy and provides support for students affected by sexual assault, relationship violence, sexual harassment and stalking, working closely with internal and external resources (see Survivor Support Advocates below). In addition, educational programs are held on campus in collaboration with campus partners to continue the discussion and education about these topics.
Survivor Support Advocates
Survivor Support Advocates (SSA) in the Office of Health Promotion and Wellness (HPW) provide students, faculty and staff with a safe, confidential and non-judgmental space to receive emotional support and explore options. Staff can connect university community members with services such as:

• On- and off-campus resources

• Emergency housing and housing accommodations

Specific supports available for students include:

• Legal/law enforcement options (including orders of protection and no contact orders)
• Medical assistance (including information on the importance of preserving evidence)
• University student conduct processes

Alcohol and Substance Misuse Prevention and Support
HPW aims to encourage healthy choices and responsible decision-making regarding the use of alcohol, tobacco and other drugs. The substance misuse prevention specialist works with students who experience concerns or problems associated with substance use/misuse. The specialist provides a safe space so students can speak honestly about their situation with the goal of assisting them to make socially responsible choices that promote health and well-being, in addition to reducing harm to self and others. The substance misuse prevention specialist also helps guide DePaul’s Collegiate Recovery Community (CRC). If you are a student who identifies as in recovery, contact hpw@depaul.edu for more information about our CRC.

Mental Well-being
Mental Well-being is guided by a holistic approach to mental health and wellness. This includes recognizing that all of our facets of wellness (social, emotional, intellectual, environmental, financial, physical and spiritual) are equally important. We offer programs like Refresh Sleep, Wellness Wednesdays, Brain Fuel, Wellness Coaching and many other workshops and programs to support students’ holistic well-being.

ASK mentors were once DePaul students, so they know what students are going through. Whether they are exploring majors, career options, searching for a job that aligns with their passion, or dealing with a variety of life challenges, talking to someone who’s been there can help.
The DePaul Career Center helps students build confidence, explore possibilities and develop a powerful personal brand. We leverage our relationships with employers, alumni, faculty and staff to facilitate meaningful experiences, mentoring connections and partnerships that position students for success in their careers and their communities.

Career Center staff can:
• Speak in classes on a wide variety of career readiness topics
• Perform career assessments for students who are exploring majors
• Develop customized workshops or presentations
• Partner with you on career-related classroom assignments or projects
• Connect with you to use data and storytelling to share alumni outcomes

Faculty can:
• Refer employers to us for recruitment and hiring
• Refer students to the Career Center at any stage in their professional development
• Direct students to use Handshake, depaul.joinhandshake.com, to search for internships/job opportunities
